Dear Fellow Drycleaner,

I have been in business twenty-five years, and have found only one way to remove wine stains. A.L. Wilson's QuikGo and BonGo work together to remove most red wine stains. Start with the protein spotter and flush, then use the tannin spotter and flush. Repeat this procedure. This has worked well for me on silks and cottons. Don't forget to test your material first for color dye bleeding.

Good Luck,
Lore Striffin

Jeff:

I just wanted to thank you for your recent visit and training on the use of Wilson Chemicals. At the same time, I want to inform you that we are almost done with the 1000 pounds of stained linen that we couldn't clean with the chemicals that we had been using. All of us here are very excited that we have recovered about 90% of the linen with the Sogo Reclamation Kit.

For your information in the past the ink and blood stains used to be the most serious problem for us but with InkGo and QwikGo, we don't go into shock anymore when we see one of those stains.

Another of your products that has been a blessing to our property is the Laundry TarGo because we do not discard napkins and pillowcases due to lipstick anymore. Jeff, I also wanted to mention that another reason why I'm happy with these products is because they are very safe to use. Every employee that come across a stained piece of linen can apply the products immediately.

For your information one of the things I am very proud of is that during my seventeen years working in housekeeping I have always managed the department with excellent safety records. For instance, last year we reached 506 days without incident.

Thank you again for the training and all the support and for the great products.
